Name: _____ Date: _____

The third conditional

Grammar worksheet · Ficha de gramática inglesa: el third conditional (if con past perfect y would have)

Remember!

	If clause	Main clause
Affirmative	If she had trained more,	she would have won the race.
Negative	If it hadn't rained,	we wouldn't have stayed at home.
Question	What would you have done	if you had missed the plane?
Short forms	If we'd won,	we'd have celebrated.

• If + past perfect (had + participle), would have + participle: an imaginary past. It did not happen.
• 'd = had in the if clause and would in the main clause: If I'd (= had) known, I'd (= would) have called.
• could have / might have + participle: If we had run, we could have caught the bus.

1 Complete with the correct form of the verbs in brackets: past perfect or would have.

Escriben un verbo con had y el participio (la condición) y el otro con would have o wouldn't have y el participio (el resultado).

1. If Columbus _____ (not sail) west, he _____ (not reach) America.
2. If Pablo _____ (not miss) the penalty, his team _____ (win) the final.
3. If Fleming _____ (not notice) the mould, he _____ (not discover) penicillin.
4. If I _____ (know) about the sale, I _____ (buy) the trainers.
5. If they _____ (invite) me, I _____ (go) to the wedding.

2 Write a third conditional sentence about each situation. Start with If.

Escriben qué habría pasado si el hecho hubiera sido al revés: la afirmativa pasa a negativa y la negativa a afirmativa.

Example: I didn't study, so I failed. → If I had studied, I wouldn't have failed.

1. We left the window open, so the rain came in.

   → _____

2. I stayed up late, so I was tired in the exam.

   → _____

3. The bus was late, so I missed the start of the exam.

   → _____

4. You didn't come, so you missed the fireworks.

   → _____

5. She didn't wear a coat, so she got cold.

   → _____

3 What does the 'd just before the brackets mean? Circle had or would.

Rodean lo que significa la 'd que va justo antes del paréntesis: had (en la condición, delante de un participio) o would (delante de have).

1. I'd (had / would) have told you if I'd known.
2. If she'd (would / had) studied, she'd have passed.
3. She'd (would / had) have come if you'd invited her.
4. If she'd (had / would) checked, she'd have found the mistake.
5. We'd (had / would) have stayed longer if it hadn't rained.

4 Correct the mistakes.

Cada frase tiene un error típico (would have en la condición, el resultado sin have o un participio mal formado). La escriben bien en la línea.

1. If we had swam faster, we would have won the relay.

   → _____

2. If the phone had rang, I would have heard it.

   → _____

3. If I would have known, I would have warned you.

   → _____

4. If you had did your homework, you would have passed.

   → _____

5. If he had ate breakfast, he would not have been hungry.

   → _____

5 Write about your past: things that could have been different.

Escriben sobre su propio pasado: qué habría pasado si algo hubiera sido distinto (un lamento, un alivio y una suposición).

If I had been born in another country, _____

Last year, if I hadn't _____ ,

If I had known _____ ,

I would have _____ if

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

The third conditional · Answer key

Soluciones · Grammar worksheet · Ficha de gramática inglesa: el third conditional (if con past perfect y would have)

Remember!

	If clause	Main clause
Affirmative	If she had trained more,	she would have won the race.
Negative	If it hadn't rained,	we wouldn't have stayed at home.
Question	What would you have done	if you had missed the plane?
Short forms	If we'd won,	we'd have celebrated.

• If + past perfect (had + participle), would have + participle: an imaginary past. It did not happen.
• 'd = had in the if clause and would in the main clause: If I'd (= had) known, I'd (= would) have called.
• could have / might have + participle: If we had run, we could have caught the bus.

1 Complete with the correct form of the verbs in brackets: past perfect or would have.

Escriben un verbo con had y el participio (la condición) y el otro con would have o wouldn't have y el participio (el resultado).

1. If Columbus hadn't sailed (not sail) west, he wouldn't have reached (not reach) America.
2. If Pablo hadn't missed (not miss) the penalty, his team would have won (win) the final.
3. If Fleming hadn't noticed (not notice) the mould, he wouldn't have discovered (not discover) penicillin.
4. If I had known (know) about the sale, I would have bought (buy) the trainers.
5. If they had invited (invite) me, I would have gone (go) to the wedding.

2 Write a third conditional sentence about each situation. Start with If.

Escriben qué habría pasado si el hecho hubiera sido al revés: la afirmativa pasa a negativa y la negativa a afirmativa.

Example: I didn't study, so I failed. → If I had studied, I wouldn't have failed.

1. We left the window open, so the rain came in.

   → If we hadn't left the window open, the rain wouldn't have come in.

2. I stayed up late, so I was tired in the exam.

   → If I hadn't stayed up late, I wouldn't have been tired in the exam.

3. The bus was late, so I missed the start of the exam.

   → If the bus hadn't been late, I wouldn't have missed the start of the exam.

4. You didn't come, so you missed the fireworks.

   → If you had come, you wouldn't have missed the fireworks.

5. She didn't wear a coat, so she got cold.

   → If she had worn a coat, she wouldn't have got cold.

3 What does the 'd just before the brackets mean? Circle had or would.

Rodean lo que significa la 'd que va justo antes del paréntesis: had (en la condición, delante de un participio) o would (delante de have).

1. I'd (had / would) have told you if I'd known.
2. If she'd (would / had) studied, she'd have passed.
3. She'd (would / had) have come if you'd invited her.
4. If she'd (had / would) checked, she'd have found the mistake.
5. We'd (had / would) have stayed longer if it hadn't rained.

4 Correct the mistakes.

Cada frase tiene un error típico (would have en la condición, el resultado sin have o un participio mal formado). La escriben bien en la línea.

1. If we had swam faster, we would have won the relay.
   → If we had swum faster, we would have won the relay.
2. If the phone had rang, I would have heard it.
   → If the phone had rung, I would have heard it.
3. If I would have known, I would have warned you.
   → If I had known, I would have warned you.
4. If you had did your homework, you would have passed.
   → If you had done your homework, you would have passed.
5. If he had ate breakfast, he would not have been hungry.
   → If he had eaten breakfast, he would not have been hungry.

5 Write about your past: things that could have been different.

Escriben sobre su propio pasado: qué habría pasado si algo hubiera sido distinto (un lamento, un alivio y una suposición).

Respuesta libre. Ejemplo: If I had been born in another country, I would have learned another language first. Last year, if I hadn't broken my arm, I would have played in the final. If I had known how much I like the guitar, I would have started earlier. I would have gone to the concert if the tickets had been cheaper.